LICHFIELDS

Lichfields is the pre-eminent planning and development
consultancy in the UK

We've been helping create great places for over 60 years.

Health

Whether it's a new clinic, hospital, estate masterplan or site disposal strategy, we provide expert advice to de-risk the planning process and achieve your objectives.

Our understanding of the public and private health markets best place us to provide planning support at every stage of the process, from initial feasibility, supporting the business case process, through to securing permissions for new developments and supporting delivery. We advise on projects of all scales from extensions and sustainability improvements, to new hospitals, estate masterplans and positioning sites for disposal.

By identifying the relevant planning issues, we successfully promote sites through the plan making process, manage applications and coordinate appeals using our specialist skills to overcome barriers to site delivery.

As part of our improvement plans to transform healthcare delivery in our region and beyond, the new pathology laboratory will help to drive collaboration across multiple trusts and will support improvements in specialist and routine diagnostic testing for all of our patients.

Simon Worthington
Director of Finance & the Senior Officer
Responsible for Building the Leeds Way

The new laboratory building at St. James' Hospital supports one of the largest pathology services in the country. The Trust saw the opportunity to consolidate existing facilities into a cutting-edge laboratory, that integrates state-of-the-art technology and is adaptable to accommodate future technological advances.

It is centred around a large open-plan laboratory, with a central specimen reception, automated tracks and staffed laboratory benches, with full height windows to allow plenty of natural light.

Continued innovation at the emergency care campus in Cramlington

Northumbria Health and Care Academy

© Assura and P+HS Architects

The Northumbria Health and Care Academy is a ground-breaking facility, which forms part of the wider Northumbria Specialist Emergency Care Hospital estate in Cramlington. The development features a training centre of excellence for nursing, midwifery and allied health professionals, as well as conference facilities, office space and a GP practice.

The new flagship emergency care facility is a key part of the Trust's strategy to support the ongoing training and career development of its staff.

Maximising capital receipts from surplus land

St Bernard's Hospital, Ealing

© David Morley Architects

St Bernard's Hospital is a physically constrained site with numerous heritage designations including listed buildings, a conservation area and a scheduled monument. Working with the Trust, we established a Development Framework that identified land for new clinical development and alternative uses for surplus land and buildings.

We have since helped the Trust to deliver the Three Bridges Regional Secure Unit and secure planning permission for 600 new homes, which were sold to and delivered by third-party developers.

Significant enhancement of care facilities for those with life-limiting illnesses

Rowcroft Hospice, Devon

© PRP

The remodelling and expansion of Rowcroft Hospice, which sits within 8.9ha of secluded woodland on a Torquay hilltop, will significantly enhance care for people with life-limiting illnesses.

A 14-bed in-patient unit will reflect a family home with state-of-the-art equipment that supports independence. A new 60-bed specialist nursing home has been informed by international best practice (including Be Advice) and will care for those living with dementia and other complex mental health needs. In addition, 40-assisted living apartments with communal facilities will also be provided for those who wish to maintain some independence but with the support of domicile care.

The landscape-led scheme centres on a village-green concept with a village hall, restaurant, shops and allotments as well as a nursery to support intergenerational mixing, and includes three visitor lodges so family or friends can be close to loved ones.

To achieve a unanimous approval for planning for our exciting plans to enhance and extend our care to our community is a real testament to the first-class planning expertise that Lichfields provide. They are a real pleasure to work with and professional throughout. I am in no doubt we would not have achieved this outcome without Lichfields.

New healthcare facility for Berwick

Berwick Community Hospital, Northumberland

Located in the heart of Berwick's historic conservation area, this new state-of-the-art hospital will re-provide all existing hospital services currently available in the town, as well as an accredited endoscopy suite and the Well Close Medical Group GP practice.

Lichfields prepared the Environmental Assessment, which accompanied the application, and working closely with Northumberland County Council secured the permission. We continue to assist the Trust in delivering several other projects.

Public Sector Decarbonisation Scheme, North Tyneside

Client: Breathe Energy Ltd

The NHS became the first health system in the world to embed net zero into legislation through the Health and Care Act 2022. Lichfields has helped transform the performance of North Tyneside General Hospital, obtaining approval for the installation of photovoltaics across the estate, saving 3,470 tons of CO₂ per annum.

Diagnostic centres for InHealth

Client: InHealth Ltd

Lichfields has assisted InHealth to improve existing diagnostic centres and create new ones. Lichfields obtained planning permissions for numerous extensions and changes of use to support the high demand for diagnostic services, including MRI facilities. Often these are provided within town centres, where space is available and accessibility is at its greatest.
